

NY My Way

Rosie's Romantic Restaurants

Food

Wednesday, 30 January 2008

Looking for a restaurant to take your loved one? This week our food editor Rosalie Saferstein tells you where to have a romantic rendezvous for Valentine's Day.

ARTHUR'S LANDING, WEEHAWKEN

(www.arthurslanding.com) The ambiance created by the twinkling lights of New York City at this waterfront restaurant, along with the wonderful food (fish is fabulous), will enliven your love life.

CHAKRA, PARAMUS (www.chakrarestaurant.com) Ask to sit in one of the pillow-backed banquettes or romantic silk-tented bungalows and dine on New American cuisine. Flickering candles throughout the restaurant create a sensuous mood.

THE DINING ROOM AT ANTHONY DAVID'S, HOBOKEN (www.anthonydavids.com) Leave this restaurant with romance in your heart after finishing a meal with the cheese course and bourbon-sauced doughnuts that Chef Pino is famous for.

15 FOX PLACE, JERSEY CITY (www.womcatering.com) Ooh and ahh over the Victorian furniture, knick-knacks, and of course the multi-course prix-fixe dinner. Located in a former home on a residential street. (BYO)

HIGHLAWN PAVILION, WEST ORANGE (www.highlawn.com) We love to doll ourselves up (jacket required) and dine on the exemplary food while viewing the spectacular Manhattan skyline. Be sure to order a side of the truffled mashed potatoes.

LORENA'S, MAPLEWOOD (www.restaurantlorena.com) This charming restaurant with refined service and a French-inspired seasonal menu will warm your hearts. Try anything chocolate for dessert. (BYO)

RESTAURANT LATOUR, HARDYSTON (www.crystalgolfresort.com) Locally grown produce is showcased and a private wine cellar with more than 51,000 bottles impresses us. Stay the night at the new Grand Cascades Lodge.